

THE JOINT TASK FORCE ON INJURED WORKERS' REHABILITATION

& Chesapeake Association of Rehabilitation Professional in the Private Sector ANNUAL CONFERENCE 2013

Sponsored by: Coppin State University – School of Professional Studies

At Coppin State University Talon Center June 6, 2013

Knowledge is Power: Ethical use of Information for Optimal Rehabilitation Outcomes

New strategies for recognizing and addressing the core reasons for work disability are emerging. A better understanding of the leading contributors has ethical, as well as financial and medical service outcome repercussions for work disability. Speakers will provide essential information for adjusters, vocational counselors, nurse case managers, physical and occupational therapists, chiropractors, attorneys, physicians, and policy makers. Speakers will present the latest evidence for best practices and provide practical assessment tools and intervention strategies for complex cases. CCM | CRC | CDMS | MD WCC CEUs Provided.
